PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE

Sue Jamison

First of all, welcome to our new members. We are delighted to have you join us! I hope you will enjoy our activities and the camaraderie of fellow members. You will find their bios and some photos in this issue.

Secondly, welcome to our new officer and directors:

Cindra Malone – Vice President

Directors: Louann Currey, Jason McNeil, Tish Pollock

And, of course, thanks to our continuing board members and officers: Maureen Larroux, Peg Caldwell, Barbara Calamaras, Judi Frazier & Bob Stanek

Special thanks to Laura Brooker for continuing the huge effort to publish PAWPRINTS. It is a huge undertaking but enjoyed by all. I know that she will welcome any news, pictures and stories you have to share!

We have had a busy couple of months!

We had a very successful first BCCA/BCCCF Supported Entries at the AKC Citrus County Kennel Club Dog Show at the World Equestrian Center in Ocala. Not only was it awesome to see some of our club members showing their beardies, it was wonderful just spending time together. We had some generous basket donations from Jan Williamson Osterbauer and Maureen Brenzel Larroux and some donations of Sweepstakes winnings. Thanks to our member judges, Lauren Dietter, Rosie Schroeder and Mary Salaja. Mary also was responsible for our wonderful hand painted awards. (Check out the pictures!) Huge shout out to Tish Pollock for leading this event, it was a very special time!

The Club has made a donation to help sponsor the BCCA National Specialty in Frankenmuth, MI. Our ad, featuring our amazing logo by Jean Larroux, will be included in the catalog for the event.

Big thanks to Peg Caldwell for all of her work to get our club website updated and up and running again after it crashed. This has been a huge task. You will get an email message once it is up and running. We hope to keep this updated with news and events!

The date, time and location for the next Bounce has been set. You can find more information about it in this issue of PawPrints and look for emails and FACEBOOK posts as well.

In closing, on behalf of the Officers and Directors, I hope all of you will participate and enjoy the events that are planned. We are always open to new ideas – especially if you have any ideas for future bounce locations. It is pretty difficult to find a place that meets all of our needs!

Cheers to all – hope to see you on December 2nd in Brooksville at the BOUNCE!

Meet Our New Members

Jennifer Waldeck and Hadley Athens, Georgia

Thank you for the warm welcome to the Bearded Collie Club of Central Florida. I must admit that after many years of experience, I had said "no more dog clubs!" other than my BCCA membership - but after such a nice time at the supported entry show in Ocala, I couldn't say no. And I'm glad I didn't!

I live in Athens, Georgia, where I moved in July, 2021 to become Professor and Head of the Agricultural Leadership, Education, and Communication Department at the University of Georgia. My late Beardie, Quinn, and I relocated here from Southern California where I had resided for most of the last 30 years with her and other much-loved Beardies. There, I worked as Professor and Associate Dean for Academic Affairs in the School of Communication at Chapman University.

Sadly, I lost Quinn suddenly to hemangiosarcoma in April, 2022. Shortly after, my friend Meaghan Edwards contacted me about a precious tri girl from her "dessert" litter who was born March 27, 2022 - the day Quinn was being operated on to remove her spleen. June 20, little Hadley arrived in Atlanta under the care of Christian Diaz of Signature Pet Transport and it was a joyous meeting!

Hadley's call name is homage to my admiration for and collection of Hadley Pottery out of Louisville, Kentucky. About the time she was born, Hadley Pottery announced it was shutting down operations after nearly 90 years. But a buyer came to the rescue, and it lives on - just like Hadley came to my rescue at a dark time. (Coincidentally, it turns out that Maureen Laroux is also a Hadley collector!). Her registered name is in keeping with the dessert theme of her litter and our adopted home state. Originally "Sorbet," Hadley is Centennial Sweet Tea and Pecan Pie. She is already a well-traveled and socialized girl, having gone to the National Specialty in Virginia Beach last fall, Ohio to see my 95-year old mother many times, many cities in between, and all around the state of Georgia as my work takes me places. The club's show in Ocala was a highlight for us as she won her first points, first major, and Best Opposite in Puppy Sweeps under breeder judge Rosie Schroeder. We both had a great time. We are working on obedience and plan to enter a rally trial soon. She loves her toys, being groomed, her grandma, and her best friends Harper (my nephew's lab) and cousin Celia (Leslie Papa's Beardie).

Although my new job, new puppy, and new home have been pretty all-consuming, I enjoy getting out and going to the dog shows, and college and professional sports. I'm a fan of all the Pittsburgh teams, and of course, the back -to-back National Champion Georgia Bulldogs! Go Dawgs!

We look forward to seeing you all again soon.

Mary Salaja

I wish to thank the Bearded Collie Club of Central Florida for inviting me to become a member. I really appreciated the opportunity to be a judge for your recent Specialty at the Central Florida Kennel Club Horseshoe Cluster.

I have contributed some artwork to your Club and slowly have been introduced to the wonderful world of Beardies. I have always wanted a Bearded Collie but ended up rehoming Old English Sheepdogs instead.

Just a short bio to introduce myself. I'm from Milwaukee Wisconsin, but can equally call Chicago my former home. Farm chores, taking care of hunting, herding and the family pet dogs is as natural for me as surviving in the inner city. My husband and I have past careers as high school, and driver education teachers. Once retired we moved to Beverly Hills, Florida, where there was plenty of opportunity to get involved in dog shows, scuba diving, and car shows. My husband has supported me and our Old English Sheepdog through many show events to earn top titles in several areas of conformation and performance. In addition, my dog and I visited Hospice and nursing homes weekly for 8 years as a certified therapy dog. When not involved with dogs, I love to scuba dive, paint and garden. I'm currently a diver/ volunteer at the Homosassa Springs Wildlife State Park and work in underwater maintenance for the care of our manatees.

We have been involved in the dog world since the 80's that started with our all white Old English Sheepdog and a local sheepdog club. We have mostly owned re-homed Old English Sheepdogs. My husband and I were contemplating a Beardie about 2 years ago, so we went to the Tampa Dog show to check them out. But there was one OES who needed to be re-homed. By the end of the weekend he had earned a 5 pt. Major, so I thought it best to get back into conformation and finish his title. After several trials trying to finish him, I became reacquainted with Beardie fanciers. It seems Old English Sheepdogs often groom near each other. It was in the grooming area where I met Tish Pollack and she asked about some brushes I had with an OES on the back.

We are currently active members in the Citrus County Kennel Club, where I am serving on the Board of Directors. I'm continuing to show and take handling lessons

By the end of the weekend he had earned a 5 pt. Major, so I thought it best to get back into conformation and finish his title. After several trials trying to finish him, I became reacquainted with Beardie fanciers. It seems Old English Sheepdogs often groom near each other. It was in the grooming area where I met Tish Pollock and she asked about some brushes I had with an OES on the backs.

We are currently active members in the Citrus County Kennel Club, where I am serving on the Board of Directors. I'm continuing to show and take handling lessons for the conformation and continuing to improve my grooming skills for long haired breeds. My concern with the dog show world is when dogs enter the ring and either the dog or the handler are not in peak physical condition. I love seeing a well-groomed dog, but I will be especially impressed if I see good movement. I feel that can't happen without following an exercise, diet and massage therapy routine to have a top performing dog shown by a handler in good physical condition. I have never bred dogs but I'm also very interested in neuromuscular stimulation and early neurological stimulation therapy. Through dog clubs I hope to learn from others, continue having a fulfilling social life and getting involved with dog related fun events, as well as, continue to be involved in performance events. It is through dog clubs where I hope to give back to our community, and stay aware of legislative initiatives. As a member of the Old English Sheepdog Club of America I am the liaison for Meet The Breeds and the logo artist for the OESCA, Southern Regional Specialty held in Orlando.

Going to the show ring I hope to see dogs that demonstrate conformation and are at peak physical condition, good grooming and movement. The Bearded Collie is impressive as being a dog that can do well in both the performance and conformation ring. They have many strengths and I am especially excited when I hear that one is being used for herding - strength and brains. So although I have an OES, I know that, in particular, when I was in performance events, it was the Bearded Collie that I wished I owned.

I have been involved with painting for several breed clubs since the mid 80's. I was discovered drawing at a dog show and soon other clubs found that they needed someone to help with putting their breed on items that could be given as trophy prizes. It was a natural moment to say, "yes" to becoming involved with the Bearded Collie Club of Central Florida and their need for some trophy art. Thank you Tish Pollock and Sue Jamison for encouraging me to paint Beardies for your Supported Entry.

This is me with my Steel. AMGCHG, CANGCH. Now and then Watermark Cruisin at Kelkary. Under the expertise of Mark and Tabatha Bettis, he has won the BOB at the 2021 and 2022 AKC Nation and he was BOB at Westminster in 2020.

A bit about me. I started with my first purebred rough collie at 7 years old. He was a gift from my grandmother for my birthday. I had until the end of the summer to teach him to sit, stay, down and come. I was successful. I started showing and breeding rough collies when I was 22 and enjoyed the competition taking my dogs to Champions in both Obedience and Conformation. One day at a show I saw this furry thing come running into the ring and I was mesmerized. I had not seen a beardie. The boy who caught my eye was Shagglylane's Beaming Teak and I fell in love with the beardie. I didn't get my first beardie for quite a while as I had a large family to raise- 6 girls. My first beardie was AMCH. CANGCH. Ragtyme Soul of Motion. After years with the collie I knew what I wanted and that was movement. Out of the litter that I saw he was the best moving and has produced some lovely pups for me to carry on as Kelkary. My kennel name Kelkary came from my first 2 daughters Kelly and Kary and has been my prefix since 1980.

In Memoriam

Cindra Malone

Once upon a time, (not so very long ago), in an enchanted land (not so very far away), lived a beautiful Bearded Collie girl puppy, aptly named The Lovely Miss Tess. Tess had an adopted brother Bearded Collie (aptly) named the Mischievous Monroe who was four years younger than her. Tess had been pretty excited when she learned a new puppy was going to be added to our happy family, but when she met Monroe, she had a few reservations as the very first thing he did after scrambling out of his crate, was jump on her and bite her ear. Tess decided right then and there that it was her mission to teach this hellion some social manners! And so the fun began.

Over ten years, the Malone Beardie duo and I fought dragons (ie Sandhill Cranes), wrestled with fierce foes in the breed and performance rings, stood toe (paw) to toe (hoof) with a very irritated (GIANT) bull intent on stomping us to mush for being in his space with his harem, acres of fire ants determined to eat our skin off and leave the droppings, and, last but not least, surviving through hurricanes, tornadoes, lightning strikes and a disastrous fire. A friendship ~ hammered firm through trials and tribulations and love and joy ~ ~ and solidified through pain, fear, laughter and a lot of running about like Figi Islanders with their hair on fire! I wouldn't trade a minute of the fun and merriment ~ I don't even begrudge the scars and missing patches of hair! Those two amazing Beardies took me for a ride down the proverbial rabbit hole and we discovered together the value of taking time out from life, enjoying the moment ~ and enjoying the love and camaraderie of your best homies! I will be missing them with every beat of my heart ~ ~ for the rest of my life!

KEIRA

July 31, 2012 - June 2, 2023

URO 1 Bedlam's Keira On a Kite String CGC, RN, BN, FDC

When instructed to 'sit,' Keira would head for the nearest comfortable chair and jump up. To her, floors were something you walked on, not sat on. She was a laid-back homebody who liked nothing better than curling up in a chair by the window and watching the world outside. She also liked being groomed and would stretch out on the grooming table and stay as long as allowed. Once I forgot she was on the table and went to bed. She was still there the next morning.

She was coaxed into taking a crack at obedience and rally and collected a couple of titles but she made it clear she was only doing it to please me. Strangely enough, she hated being photographed. She would disappear if she saw me with a camera and if escape wasn't possible, she would hide her head under her paws. That's why I have so few photos of her. But even without photos, Keira will always remain in my heart.

Clancy

7/3/2007 - 8/5/2023

Loved by Kevin Cronin and Peg Caldwell

Clancy arrived in Waynesville, NC, from Omaha to live with Kevin, Peg, and Beardies Ollie and Duffy. He was a typical cute bouncing Beardie puppy who loved running around our large yard and trying to keep up with his older brothers. He grew up to be the best athlete of all the boys. We went to puppy classes, obedience and agility classes and he was shown in conformation a few times by Kevin. But he found his favorite thing at Beardie Camp, where he passed his herding instinct test. The judge commented that he had great instinct and could surely work on a farm in Scotland. So, during our winters in Florida, we took weekly herding lessons for several years. He loved herding and even though he tried, he never mastered herding the dolphins in our backyard!

We spent the summers in the Smoky Mountains in NC and nearly every morning he walked and ran on the 7th hole of the nearby Laurel Ridge Country Club golf course. The golfers call the little bridge we crossed Clancy's Bridge. He also had quite a local fan club as they watched him run and herd the geese and ducks back into the pond. Is there anything better than watching a Beardie run with all that hair flying?

Clancy had always had one or two Beardies to play with at home until 2019 when he became an "only." He adjusted too well (!) and really enjoyed all the extra attention. He was always gentle but tough. He was diagnosed with Addison's disease when he was 7, and when he had pneumonia, he was at the University of Tennessee vet school hospital until he recovered. He certainly slowed down the last couple of years, but he still looked for the ducks and his fetch toys. Clancy had a long and happy life but it's very sad and quiet at our house these days.

Laura

Rodric Brooker Obituary - Tampa, FL

In Memory of Rod Brooker

The Cronins remember Rod

Peg met Rod on an internet site for Bearded Collie owners. He posted about their Tierra Verde condo and their walks at Ft. DeSoto. We lived less than a mile away! They came over and our Beardies bonded and the Cronins and Brookers became close friends. We visited their house in Waynesville and bought our own summer house a half mile away. We spent winter weekends in our pool in Tierra Verde along with Ashley and Rob, and summers in the mountains.

There are so many things we remember about those years: a trip to the Mast General Store meant more gloves and more jackets for Rod, the guys joked about opening a store on Main Street, the beer can chicken that rolled down the hill to the bottom of the yard, the time Demmi fell over our seawall and the guys fished her out. Rod, Kevin, a chain saw and a big maple tree – what could go wrong? We have photos to prove he used a hair dryer to help start the grill and he had a pretty fancy getup for blowing leaves off Deer Path Road. And oh those tie-dyed shirts Kevin and Rod bought each year. Rod installed a drip irrigation system to water Laura's summer garden. Once installed, only NASA engineers could debug it. Ingles kept him supplied with Coca Cola and Cheerwine. We learned to love the Gators. And the Lightning. How did he eat such big servings of Laura's famous spaghetti?

Rod had a lot of toys: the souped up TT, the cameras and lenses, and he had more tools than Ace hardware. We were once allowed to babysit his bonsai plants. They came with extensive instructions. And we never charged Rod for storing his surf board and kayak for 15 years. He took great photos and videos and set them to music. Luckily Pink Floyd did not suit the videos.

We shall miss his great smile and wit, his huge vocabulary, and most of all, his friendship. Just weeks ago he still had that great sense of humor – often self deprecating humor. He said "sometimes it's good not to be able to remember everything." But we will remember him. As he was.

Kevin and Peg

IT'S TRICKY

Alice Bixler

Shake paws. Rollover. Fetch. Owners often teach their dogs 'show-off' tricks. And that's good. It means they're interacting with their pets and instilling the desire to learn. Generally speaking, obedience commands are just (official) tricks. Well, you've got to start somewhere!

There are three, maybe four, things your Beardie should know to be a great companion. Sit. Come. Stay. And Leave It (is worthwhile). Think of these as building blocks. Once your dog knows Sit, she can then transition into Shake Paws, Down, Rollover and so on. There's no 'right' way to teach your dog. Whatever works (as long as it's kind). The Lazy Way is just to wait till your dog sits, then say "Sit" in a happy voice and praise her and/or reward her. Eventually she'll get the idea. The more formal way is to position your dog with her back to a wall or (better yet) a corner, show her a treat and slowly move it over her head and toward her rear. As her eyes follow the treat, she'll have to sit to keep it in sight. Mission accomplished! Say "sit" and reward her. Repeat till it sinks in. Bonus – raising your hand upward becomes the hand signal for sit.

Stay takes a little more effort. With the dog on lead sitting at your left side, move the palm of your hand to the front of her nose, say "Stay" and pivot left so you're now standing in front. Count to ten, pivot back beside her and praise and/or reward. This works in progression. But don't rush. Once the dog is steady with the first part, turn and move back a step. Over time, increase the distance between you and the dog when you step away and face her till you're working at the end of a six-foot lead. Now increase the time. If she breaks, correct her back into a sit by lifting the lead. When she stays reliably, add distractions by moving to the side, one way or the other. In time, you should be able to walk all the way around her while she stays. Depending on how quickly your dog picks up on the Stay idea, this should take about a week at the least.

Coming when called is best taught when your Beardie is a pup because pups like to be near their people and they haven't learned bad habits....yet. But it's never too late to start. Again, there are several different ways to teach this. One is by walking along with your dog on leash, suddenly run backwards (check behind you first) calling the dog's name and "Here" or "Come" or whatever appeals to you while bringing the dog to you by gathering up the lead. Then praise and reward. Incidentally, it's a good idea to use the name of the exercise when praising as in "Good Here" or "Good Sit" or "Good Down." Another method is randomly calling your dog when she's loose and if she comes to you, reward and praise. If she doesn't, then just ignore her. The one very important thing to remember is NEVER CALL YOUR DOG TO YOU TO PUNISH HER! If someone called you to come over to them and then punched you, you'd probably ignore them the next time, right? Always use a happy voice, not one that makes your dog think "Uh oh, I'm in trouble."

Once a Beardie knows the basics, you can progress to any number of tricks (or obedience exercises). The AKC offers Trick Dog titles, if you'd like to add some after your Beardie's official name. So if you give just five or ten minutes a day to training, there's no telling how much your dog can learn and become a better companion in the process. Check your local library for books on trick training to supply ideas.

BCCCF Rescue Update: Oliver daBeardie

Bob Stanek

Our house was shot up on 3 July 3 of this year.

Oliver and I were sleeping. Mary got up to see what was going on and they shot her with a graze wound to the head. She refused ambulance service.

Sadly, now both of us hate almost everybody.

Therapy Dog Training Update:

I shouldn't say Oliver got kicked out of therapy, because it's never the dog. But I got kicked out. A couple sessions ago in a high school, a woman was there and as soon as I saw it she was in for me. So, I know my dog, trust him as a geezer dog, but their rules are when you have the kids walk the dog, you have to hold a second leash. You have to hold dogs 3 feet apart, and if you have to get water, you have to have a person from the organization hold your dog, not a kid. Oh, no bark allowed. Of course Bob Stanek ignored all this. Then a couple days later, the boss lady called and said let me go through these issues. She started yapping and I hung up then she fired us the next day

What's too bad is the kids miss out.

Oliver DaBeardie is full of himself! There was a full length mirror in the hotel and all he did was stare at himself. Probably thinking "How much is that doggy in the window!"

BCCCF Rescue Update: Nicolas

Kathy Davidson

Nicolas is approaching his 2nd anniversary rescue/adoption date in October. He is doing just fantastic, very happy & healthy on Amelia Island. He loves his daily early morning walks in our neighborhood with all his other canine buddies. But with the excessive heat this summer we haven't had any beach time to speak of. I am anxious for the weather to change so we can go for our car rides with the windows down and hair flying in the breeze. Nicolas loves to "load up" - always an adventure for us both.

Nicolas, being my fourth Beardie, has shown to have the most sound sensitivities of them all. Thunderstorms, fireworks (of course)...to leaf blowers, the vacuum cleaner and his latest fear is the sound of the coffee grinder appliance! Oh well, we just work around their anxieties the best we know how and love and hug our Beardies!
